Wm. Kendeil, the photographer, returned Saturday. He had been called home by telegram, his little child being very sick and not expected to live, but it is now convalescent.

Last Saturday evening the Flaton baseball team came down and crossed bats with the Moulton nine. The score stood four to five in favor of Moulton, and Sunday evening the same thing was repeated with the Yoakum nine, who came over to play Moulton. The result was four to five in favor of Moulton. Both teams went home sad but wiser.

In last week's GAZETTE special mention should have been made of the artistic floats built and painted by G. Flary. The citizens float representing the "Lovelei," with skiff and water in the foreground, and the high bluff crowned with a charming young lady, was very imposing indeed, and the sides decorated with a beautiful landscape and bearing the names of all the business men who helped pay for the float. The next and equally well gotten up, was that of Frank Wagner, the beer agent, representing a large beer keg of the San Antonio Brewing Association.

Franz Bartsch, of the firm of Bartsch Bros., millers and glaziers of Dilworth, called at this office Friday to get a supply of letter heads and envelopes for the ensuing year.

The red bugs, or chiggers as they are sometimes called, seem to be more numerous and ferocious this year than common. Fishing and picnic parties are making loud complaints about them. Those who took in the Colorado river excursion last week claim that they brought home some 55,000 red bugs with tigerish appetites.

A fishing party of about twelve or fifteen are having a good time out in W. L. Martin's pasture today and will stay there until tomorrow evening. Mr. Martin contributed a barbecued calf and a great time is expected. The scene of the picnic is on Ponton's creek about four miles north of town.

The great swarms of flies which appeared everywhere along about the last of April, seem to have vanished. Several theories have been advanced, but the one most plausible is that the great storms lately have destroyed them.

Trautwein & Wolters will this season adopt the cylindrical baling system. The agent was here last week and completed the deal. Next week we hope to be able to describe this system in detail.

The Town Improvement Committee has exterminated the cenny weeds which threatened to overrun that part of Shiner adjacent to the Lutheran and Baptist churches. The work was well done, and the writer joins the other citizens of that part of Shiner in a vote of thanks to the committee.

SPRING FIGHTS.

Joe Sulak, sr., came into town at midnight Saturday night and walking up to Squire Blohm wanted to make a complaint against his son-in-law, Joe Zeitz, for assault and battery. He exhibited a gash on the top of his head about two inches long and was also minus most of his clothing which was torn off in the fracas. Zeitz stated that they had all been to town Saturday, and going home in the evening Sulak wanted to whip his wife, whereupon he, Zeitz, interfered, and the old man grabbed up a plank and whacked him on the side of the head. Zeitz exhibited a badly damaged face in corroboration of this statement.

Sunday night a general row broke out among the negroes down in "Hell's Half Acre," and for a time it sounded like a gang of hyenas had broke loose. Yells, howls and curses filled the air, and Deputy Sheriff Culpe per had to be called in to restore peace and quiet.
